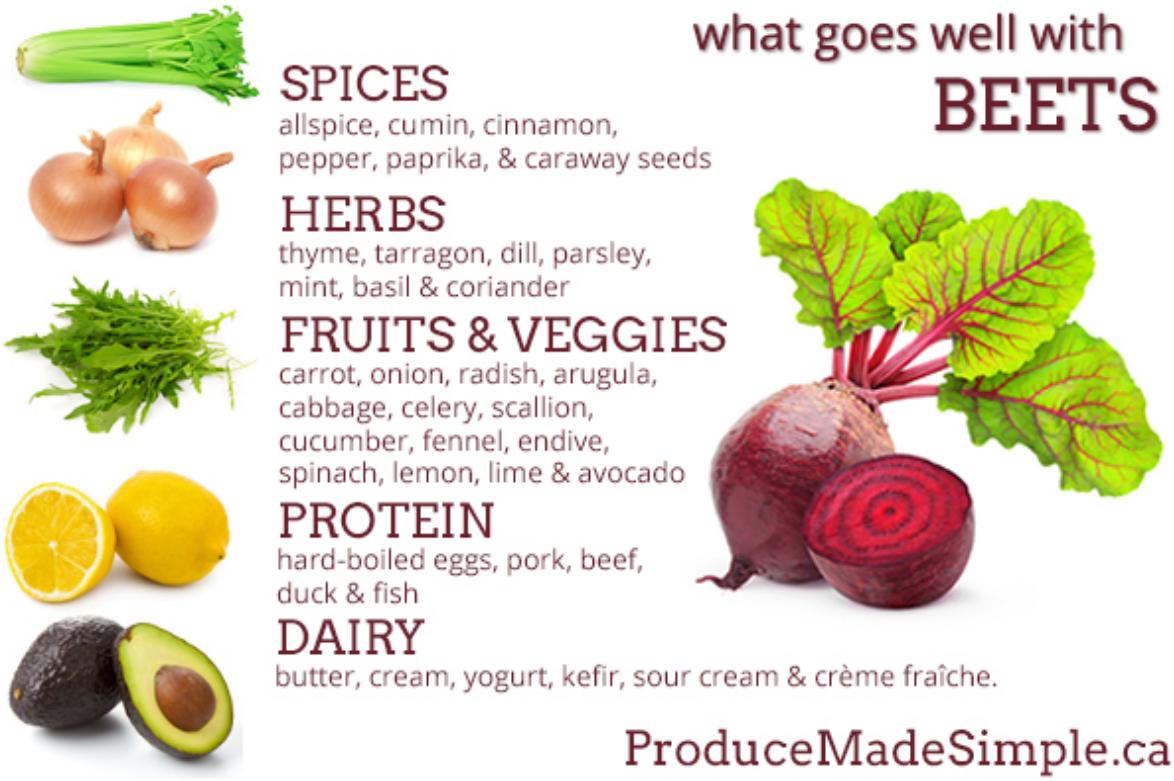
What Goes Well With Beets?



What Do Beets Go Well With?

What goes well with beets? Warm spices like allspice, cumin, cinnamon, pepper, paprika, and caraway seeds (or combined spices like a curry), as well as fresh or dried herbs such as thyme, tarragon, dill, parsley, mint, basil, or coriander.

Beets taste great with other root vegetables like carrot, onion, or radishes, as well as other greens like arugula, cabbage, celery, scallions, cucumber, fennel, endive, spinach, and avocado.

Complement beets' mellow flavour with butter, cream, or add some tang with kefir, yogurt, sour cream, crème fraiche, or a squeeze of lemon or lime juice. Hard boiled eggs also taste amazing alongside some roasted beets, and beets pair well with almost every meat: pork, beef, duck, or fish.
